Re: United States v Shalik Jenkins, 20 Cr. 78 (AT)

Your Honor:

By this letter, we ask that Mr. Jenkins be released immediately, upon terms previously discussed at a bail hearing. The government consents to this application and agrees that Mr. Jenkins should be released as soon as possible.

By way of background, we previously moved for pre-trial release on the condition that Mr. Jenkins and three financially-responsible persons sign a bond of $50,000. We also proposed that he live with a relative and be subject to home confinement with electronic monitoring. A bail hearing was held on November 25, 2020, and this Court denied the application. Today, however, the government has informed me that they consent to Mr. Jenkins being released on the conditions previously proposed.

Accordingly, we ask that Mr. Jenkins be released immediately, with the understanding that all of the conditions of his release be satisfied within two weeks of today (or two weeks from the date of his release).

GRANTED.

SO ORDERED.
